Senate Leaders Press For Vote On Public Housing

Passage Of Measure In Senate By Wednesday Aim Of Democrats

BELIEVE AMENDMENTS CAN ALL BE DEFEATED

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Senate Democratic leaders pressed today for votes by Wednesday on the $10,000,000 unit low rent public housing bill.

Sen. Sparkman (D) Ala., whose banking subcommittee framed the compromise measure, said he is confident that all "crippling" amendments can be defeated.

Sparkman said he still hopes for passage of the bill by Wednesday. This is an optimistic goal, since the Senate will shorten today's work in favor of the opening baseball game in the capital. Also lengthy speeches still are due from critics of the measure.

Most Dangerous Amendment
Most dangerous amendment to the public housing advocates is the demand by Sen. Bricker (R) Ohio, that federal aid be withheld from any housing project which practices racial segregation.

Bricker and other critics of the bipartisan bill are challenging northern Democrats as well as Republicans to stand by their civil rights position and support the anti-segregation amendment.

Fearing that it would defeat the whole measure, administration leaders are asking northern Senators to vote against it.

Sparkman and Banking Chairman Maybank (D) S. C., will sit on the sidelines during the Bricker amendment fight and allow three pro-civil rights Democrats, Sens. Humphrey, Minn., Douglas, Ill., and Taylor, Ind., to wage that battle.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Weather of Easter Day was largely as predicted. The sun was shining, but the air was chilly.

About 11:20 this morning there was a shower of hail, which lasted a couple of minutes; soon the sun was shining.

Iceicles hung from the eaves of houses and porches here on Sunday morning, and some of the spring flowers looked in poor shape this morning. Despite this, the daffodils on the fringe of Jackson park were looking good and standing up like soldiers.

Scenes along local highways are increasing in beauty daily as various trees, bushes and other shrubbery are getting ready to shoot forth their blossoms. Lilac bushes are particularly bursting with blooms which should be out in their beauty in a few days if the weather warms up a bit.

Freezing weather over the week end put a finishing blow on the beautiful magnolia tree blooms, Pa New observes. Many of the trees were about in full bloom last week, and the weather conditions of Saturday night turned them a withered brown.

Daylight savings time program will be inaugurated for the summer next Sunday. Clocks will be turned back by most people in the affected areas late Saturday night.

Fish Warden C. B. White of this area reports that the crowds of fishermen along the streams of the county on opening day this year were larger than any that he has ever seen on a similar occasion in preceding years.

Diplomats Are Watching Iran-Soviet Situation

By JOHN A. RICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS)—Diplomatic officials in Washington are keeping a watchful eye on the tense situation developing in relations between Iran and Russia.

The seriousness of the situation was emphasized as Moscow closed four of its consular offices in Azerbaijan, and its ambassador to Tehran Ivan Sadechikov returned home from consultation.

Some hope that the Kremlin is not planning to provoke the situation any further arose from the fact that radio Moscow took the trouble to deny its planes had flown over Iran and Iraq, last week.

May Reach U. N.

If the situation is not quieted down, it is anticipated that Iran will carry its case to the United Nations again where it probably would win unbroken support from the west.

This was the case in 1946 when Moscow finally was induced by United Nations pressure to remove her troops from northern Iran. These forces had been sent in to (Continued on Page Two)

Five Men Slain In Shooting Orgy

Pullman, Washington, Man Goes Berserk—Shoots Four, Injures Three

FINALLY SHOT TO DEATH BY POSSE

PULLMAN, Wash., April 18.—(INS)—Five men were counted dead today and three others injured after a berserk businessman terrorized the quiet college town of Pullman with a high-powered rifle for two hours Easter Sunday.

The quintuple killings began when Pullman police officer Ross Clair attempted to arrest an electric store operator, George McIntyre, 30.

Before the shooting ended with the death of McIntyre at the hands of a posse, he had killed Officer Clair, Sheriff Dave Parnell and Deputy Gilbert Gallagher of Whittenburg. Sparkman and Banking Chairman Maybank (D) S. C., will sit on the sidelines during the Bricker amendment fight and allow three pro-civil rights Democrats, Sens. Humphrey, Minn., Douglas, Ill., and Taylor, Ind., to wage that battle.

Freeze Damages Early Fruit Crop

Serious Damage Believed Done By Sudden Drop In Temperature

LOSS IS HARD TO ESTIMATE

Sunday morning's wintry weather is believed to have caused severe damage to early fruit, but most fruit growers were of the opinion that it would not be a complete loss. Temperatures dropped to an official low of 22 degrees, and may have been even colder in some sections of the county.

Most of the county's leading fruit growers expressed the opinion that where the blossoms were completely out, that the fruit was killed, but in instances where the blossom had not yet unfolded, that no damage was done.

Peaches Hardest Hit

Peaches were the hardest hit, as many blossoms were out on county peach trees. Sweet cherries were also hard hit, along with plums.

Little or no damage resulted to apples, most of the growers believed, as the blossoms were still in the bud stage.

It will take some little time, however, to determine the full extent of the damage done.

The sun came out bright and warm Sunday morning, increasing the extent of the damage. Had it remained cloudy, and warmed up gradually, the loss would not have been as severe.

President's Tax Increase Program May Be Shelved

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Congress may shelve President's Truman's tax increase program and limit itself this year to legislation making administrative changes in the nation's tax laws.

A move is underway in the House Ways and Means committee to give priority to a long-standing Treasury department request for revision of the tax laws.

If the committee agrees to this, the president's request for a four billion dollar tax increase will be postponed for the remainder of the session, unless Mr. Truman recalls Congress later in the year.

May Cut Levies Slightly
If the committee decides to tackle tax law revision instead of a tax revenue raising measure, it may bring out a bill cutting levies slightly instead of increasing them.

The committee will not make a decision until possibly late in May or early in June. The decision on what kind of tax legislation to tackle will come after the committee and the House have completed action on Social Security legislation.

The House group initiates all tax legislation in Congress. It has set April 23 as the termination date for its lengthy hearings on the president's broadened Social Security program. It is anticipated that it will be at least a month after that before the committee and the House dispose of the legislation.

Soviet Zone Germans Want End Of Blockade

BERLIN, April 18.—(INS)—Soviet zone Germans are reported today to be pressuring the Russians for an end to the Berlin blockade because of its disastrous financial consequences.

A British army newspaper reported that Germans in the eastern zone who want to resume trade with Western Germany have put the heat on the Soviets to resume normal relations.

The heads of the German railroad in East Germany are also said to have warned that the transportation will be bankrupt unless trade between the two parts of the nation are resumed.

U.S. To Withdraw From South Korea

SEOUL, April 18.—(INS)—American and Korean officials are today discussing the date on which U. S. occupation forces will be withdrawn from South Korea.

This was disclosed by South Korean President Syngman Rhee and American ambassador John H. Muccio in Seoul.

Rhee issued a statement announcing that the date of the American withdrawal within "several months" is under discussion.

Iran Recalls Soviet Ambassador Sayyan

TEHRAN, April 18.—(INS)—The Iranian government today announced the recall from Moscow of Ambassador Agheh Hamid Sayyan and the appointment of Communications Minister Nader Arasteh to replace him.

The move was reportedly made in an effort to smooth Russian-Iranian relations.

The action had been predicted earlier by a government spokesman who insisted that relations between the two countries are "normal" despite Russia's closing of four of its eight consulates in Iran.

Imprisonment Of Church Leaders Is Again Before U.N.

Issue Is Before Committee Of U.N. Today For Immediate Discussion

PLENARY SESSION LIKELY THURSDAY

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 18.—The United Nations General Assembly swings back to consideration today of the imprisonment of Hungary's Cardinal Mindszenty and Protestant church leaders in Bulgaria.

At the same time, the problem of the former Italian colonies will again be taken up by the 58-nation political committee.

The Mindszenty case and that of the Bulgarian group is before the Ad Hoc committee, counterpart of the political committee. Its chairman, Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, is ready to push for immediate discussion but delays may be encountered.

The committee meetings are the first in a week—except for smaller ones—as these two major bodies suspend whenever the General Assembly is in session.

Easter Parade In New Castle Largely On Wheels

It may have been the chilly air that caused New Castle's Easter parade to change to an automobile caravan which jammed the downtown streets as seen in the top photo Sunday afternoon. A few brave persons appeared in their Easter finery, like the Anderson sisters of 608½ Spruce street. The sisters gave a warm breath of Spring to an otherwise chilly day as they strolled across the public park. They are: (left to right) Arla, Marian, Marlene, Lily and Esther.

Record Crowds Attend Easter Services Sunday

True to his promise, the Weatherman gave the Easter parade sunshine Sunday afternoon.

Not too strong and not too warm, but sunshine sufficient to warrant wearing the Easter finery which was good enough for the ladies.

The rain and snow of Saturday night cleared away, the temperature went up ten or fifteen points, and it was typical Easter Day.

Churches reported the record crowds of the year. In many instances the entire seating capacity was filled. Flower banked altars were a floral reminder of the season and special music was a feature in almost all the churches.

London Hears Soviet Sending Envoy To U. S.

Reports Indicate That Discussions On Berlin Blockade And Pact Are Aim

NO CONFIRMATION IS GIVEN REPORT

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 18.—Reports reached London from Berlin today that the Soviets have dispatched a special envoy to Washington for discussions centering around the North Atlantic Pact and the Berlin blockade.

Reuters and the London Daily Mail identified him as Gen. Georgi V. Malinin, former Soviet Deputy Chief of Staff in Germany.

Malinin's departure coincided with reports that Russia is making proposals looking toward a lifting of the blockade. The reports indicated that Malinin may be carrying a formal offer to Washington.

Has Heard Nothing
(In Washington, State Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott said he had heard nothing of such a report, the latest of a series of rumors about lifting the blockade. He recalled that Secretary of State Acheson last week, referring to another report, had commented that all avenues of communication are open to the Russians.)

(In Berlin, U. S. military officials denied Berlin press reports that the Russians are seeking a way to lift the blockade.)

(Philip Hawkins, deputy military government economic adviser, said there is "absolutely no indication" (Continued on Page Two)

Facing Charge Of Lobbying

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Secretary of Labor Tobin was accused today of lobbying in behalf of the administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill in violation of a thirty-year-old section of the U. C. criminal code.

The National Association of Manufacturers, which made the charge, suggested that the cabinet member's activities may be a cause for his removal from office.

Based On Statement
The NAM charges are based on Tobin's statement to a news conference that he and his aides have pooled practically every member of Congress on the labor bill and are confident it will be enacted.

In its weekly paper, the Manufacturers' Association declared: "Apparently, Mr. Tobin's enthusiasm reaches the point where some think he envisions himself as the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, and in giving play to this enthusiasm Mr. Tobin seems to have overlooked the 30-year-old section 201 of the criminal code."

The NAM said this provision forbids the use of any money appropriated by Congress to influence in any manner congressional voting on any legislation.

MILITARY WEDDING
"My fiancé is an Army officer. We plan to have a military wedding with his fellow officers as attendants. Please give us the entire procedure for a wedding of this type."

Answer: Military weddings follow the procedure prescribed for civilian weddings, as to every detail except the following military traditions:

At an Army or Navy officer's wedding, the bridegroom should wear his full-dress uniform. Usually, he selects his ushers from among his fellow-officers—if he wants a complete military wedding. All of these wear their full-dress uniforms.

After the wedding, instead of bringing up the rear of the procession as is usually done, the officers, acting as ushers, march out first to the church steps, divide into two lines—one line at each side. They unsheathe their swords and cross them above their heads to form an arch of steel under which the bride and groom proceed down the steps. The swords should not thus be raised until the newly-wedded pair appear at the church door.

Usually, also the bride and groom cut the first piece of wedding cake with his sword. Of course, none of these customs is essential but they are traditionally done when all of the attendants are military officers.

Question: My daughter will become engaged soon. Is it proper for me to invite her fiancé's family to dinner?

Answer: They should call upon you immediately. If they do not, you should invite them to dinner. It is quite correct to invite them to dinner, even if they call.

NEW YORK, April 16.—There is a beautiful old Negro spiritual whose refrain is "no hidin' place down here."

I feel singularly in tune with this sentiment today.

Since the advent of the atom bomb, any man with a grain of sense has been searching around to find himself a better 'ole. Until 24 hours ago, I had my hiding place staked out, ready and waiting for the advent of the third or atomic world war.

I had planned to high-tail it out to Idaho in a dust cloud until the postman rang twice yesterday, with the ring of doom, if only I had recognized the sound.

To Build Plant

For this fleet messenger, whom neither rain nor sleet nor radioactive cloud can stay in the swift completion of his appointed rounds, brought word from home that the atomic energy commission is going to build a $500,000,000 reactor plant in southeastern Idaho.

The money is appropriated, the site has been acquired and work will soon begin in transforming this better 'ole into a prime target for the enemy in any future global wars.

As a tax-payer and an expatriate who still retains his membership privileges in Idaho, I resent this dastardly invasion of my home state on the part of Uncle Sam and his atomic energy commission. Is nothing sacred? Where, I ask the big brains, are the likes of me to hide when the guided missiles, the atom bombs and the bacteriological tid-bits start falling on New York, Washington, Detroit, et al, in the next war?

In case the boys at the Pentagon have not yet got around to file 2x-349-6A3-104FOB, I traded in my war correspondent's suit sometime ago for two house dresses and a pair of coveralls suitable for digging in the garden.

To Sit Out Next War
I plan to sit out this next war, largely because the boys have got too tough for me. Air raids I could stand. Submarines I could endure. Shot and shell I could manage to digest.

But this atom stuff is out of my class. I have been over-matched and I know it. Some big, brave girl can have my place in the war correspondents' corps in the next fracas.

I aim to sit this one out, and where I aimed to sit it out—until 24 hours ago—was Idaho. Now I have to start hunting all over again for a good, proper cave with decent ventilation and a good southern exposure.

Until the government came along and popped this atomic plant down near Arco and only a hood and holler from Pocatello, Idaho was a big safe place composed equally of lyrically beautiful, soaring mountains, high flat plateaus covered with sage brush, horned toads and rattlesnakes, and irrigated valleys more fertile than the Nile.

Runs Political Gamut
Its chief exports for many years have been about equally divided between potatoes and jockeys. Politically, it runs the gamut from the late Senator William Borah to the present Senator Glen Taylor, running mate of Henry Wallace in the last presidential election.

In other words, until the atomic energy commission started messing around, Idaho was the kind of place on which no enemy, in his right mind, would waste a bomb.

In fact, it was in more danger of a bomb from our own forces than from any outside foe, for one of the largest plants supplying dehydrated spuds to the U. S. army is located in a vulnerable position in southwestern Idaho.

But now one of the last beautiful refuges of mankind is gone. Idaho is just another target for tonight.

It makes me doubly nervous to read the newspaper clippings in the letter from home—clippings telling of the wild rejoicing in Arco and surrounding communities when the government announced it was about to spend a half-billion bucks in the desert on a reactor station.

The citizens of Arco formed a torch procession and whooped and hollered through the streets in rejoicing that so much federal manna had dropped in their district.

But when the rejoicing is over and the hangover cured, I kinda hanker to know where the citizens of Idaho will find a better 'ole. My interest is more than cursory. If they find a good hiding place, I am to string along with 'em.

SUSANNE SMITH WEDS J. M. FREW

Miss Susanne Agnew Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith, Jr., of 301 Fairfield avenue, became the bride of James Milton Frew, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Frew, of Chapin road, at a lovely ceremony performed, Saturday afternoon, April 16, at 4 o'clock in the Smith home.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath officiated at the single ring ceremony in the large beautifully decorated living room, which was embellished with fern, greens and a large bouquet of white snapdragons and lilies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in the beautiful wedding gown which her grandmother, Mrs. James M. Smith, had worn for her own wedding. It was a lovely creation of mouseline de soie over Duchesse satin. The neckline and inserts in the skirt and train were fashioned from Valenciennes lace. Her fingertip veil of sheer net fell from a crown of the same lace as on the gown and she carried a cluster of white orchids. She also wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue, the something old being the lovely lace handkerchief carried by her grandmother Smith at her own wedding.

Miss Judith Parker Smith, sister of the bride, as only attendant wore a marquisette gown of a pastel shade of green, fashioned off the shoulder with an under piece of lace on the bertha. The full skirt was fashioned with a large bow in the back. She carried a cluster of white orchids.

James R. Frew served his son as best man. "Adagio," the third movement from Mendelssohn's Third Symphony provided the appropriate musical background, preceding and during the ceremony.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home for approximately 100 guests. The brides table was appointed in white with lovely floral pieces and centered with a three tier wedding cake topped with a small bouquet of white flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frew have departed for a wedding trip through the South and upon their return will reside in their new home on the New Wilmington road.

Mrs. Frew attended the Emma Willard school, in Troy, N. Y., and was a student of music and design at the Institute of Contemporary Art, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Frew attended Greenbrier Military Academy and Carnegie Institute of Technology. During World War II he served as a captain in the Fifth Air Force, serving in the South Pacific. He is now affiliated with J. R. Frew, Inc.

aid in the movement of lend-lease and other war supplies from the head of the Persian Gulf to Russian forces.

That resolution is still on the table of the United Nations and might readily be revived if necessary.

Official apprehension over Soviet intentions in the oil-rich middle east are heightened by the fact that having failed in her drive in Western Europe, Moscow might turn its attention elsewhere.

Of Concern To West

In this event, the Middle East would be a matter of graver concern to the West, and particularly the United States, than the Far East.

This reasoning would gain some substance from the failure of the United States to spring to the rescue of nationalist China in the face of communist advances.

Officials in Washington have indicated that they have this contingency in mind. Concern has been expressed over recent border incidents in Iran. Secretary of State Acheson has denounced as "demonstrably untrue" Russian claims that the United States is making Iran a base for "aggression" against Russia.

The United Nations has two small military missions in Iran, both there at the request of the Teheran government.

It is pointed out that Russia maintains far greater military missions in her own satellite countries, particularly Hungary.

President Truman also has made clear that he has plans for military aid for Iran as part of the program for the armament of friendly nations whose security is vital to that of the United States.

Defense Industry Plans Are Stymied

Truman's Strength Will Be Tested On Taft-Hartley Repeal Effort

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The National Security Resources board has run into trouble of such gravity, it threatens the nation's planning for co-ordination of industry with the requirements of the armed services in event of a third world war.

Anti-trust laws are at the root of the trouble.

The board has been quietly calling various industries in for conferences to outline what might be expected of them in event of an emergency. In turn, the industries have been asked just what could be produced with the various machines, tools and equipment on hand in each particular field.

However, the program has gone sour because the firms fear that if they get together to plan for any industry-wide program, the Justice department will step in and start anti-trust proceedings against them.

The industrialists have now proposed to Washington that the board grant them immunity from such prosecution.

This, however, is out of the hands of the board. It can't offer the immunity and the Justice department will not—at least, it has refused so far.

Net results is no planning for defense is going on in some of the nation's very largest and most vital industries.

Truman And Congress

The crucial test of President Truman's ability to obtain substantial enactment of his legislative program in the 81st Congress will come when the House takes up the Taft-Hartley repeal bill.

Spokesmen for the administration say they have sufficient votes to hold the line against crippling amendments. Offsetting this optimistic forecast, however, is the prediction of key Republicans and southern Democrats that the administration bill will be "radically changed."

Spokesmen for the coalition will attempt to retain in the Taft-Hartley law many of the provisions to which repeal the Democratic party is committed.

If they succeed the coalition will be well on the way to control of Congress. Some coalition leaders contend that 75 per cent of the Taft-Hartley act will be retained in what is to be an amended Wagner labor law.

April Showers?

The administration is more worried than appears on the surface about the continuing signs of deflation.

The move to reduce cash payments from 75 to 50 per cent of the security price was an outward manifestation of concern among top economists. This followed relaxation of credit controls by the Federal Reserve Board. Factors behind current thinking:

1—Growing unemployment.

2—Industrial production slightly down.

3—Declining department store sales.

4—Continuing decline in living costs.

Administration economists were closely watching pre-Easter shopping sales.

Federal Help

Rep. Clare Hoffman (R) Michigan, has gone to the trouble of figuring up how much federal money has been distributed to the states for floods, fires, hurricanes, general relief, veterans' benefits, highways, schools, etc., during the past 16 years.

It comes to 42 billion 953 million 579 thousand 445 dollars for the period 1932 through 1948.

Hoffman says the greatest amount, about 5½ billion dollars, was spent in 1948. Next was 1939 with almost 4½ billions. In 1932, federal expenditures to states amounted to 269 millions. It rose to 341 millions in 1933 and exceeded one billion dollars for every year thereafter.

UMW Committee To Meet In Washington

Will Meet April 25 To Draft Demands For 1949 Soft Coal Wage Agreement

WASHINGTON, April 18—(INS)—The United Mine Workers Journal said Friday that the union's policy committee will meet in Washington April 25 to draft demands for a 1949 soft coal wage agreement.

UMW President John L. Lewis summoned the 200-man policy group to "canvass the situation with respect to the forthcoming wage negotiations and adopt a general policy for the guidance of UMW representatives who will meet with the coal operators."

The existing coal contract expires June 30 but it can be terminated or reopened on 30 days notice. Lewis is expected to seek negotiations on a new agreement starting the latter part of May.

Meantime, the national labor relations board announced that it will hear oral arguments April 28 on the legality of Lewis' present contract with the mine owners.

An NLRB trial examiner has held that the contract's union shop clause violates the Taft-Hartley law because the miners did not approve a union shop in an NLRB election. The UMW is ineligible for such a ballot because Lewis and other officers have refused to sign non-communist affidavits.

Shorter Week—More Welfare Fund

Before the full five-man NLRB passes on the examiner's findings, the entire question may be moot. Congress seems certain to eliminate the union shop election requirement in any new labor law it enacts.

The UMW Journal made it clear that the theme of the forthcoming 1949 contract parley will be union demands for a shorter work week and an expanded welfare fund. The former will be sought to "stabilize" declining coal production and employment.

Lewis is expected to ask for a six-hour day and 30-hour week in place of the present eight-hour day and 40-hour week, and perhaps a 40-cents-a-ton contribution to the UMW welfare program.

The operators now pay a 20-cents-a-ton royalty, but this sum reportedly is inadequate to maintain expenditures of nearly two million dollars weekly for miners' pensions, disability, death and sickness benefits.

Defense 'Hideout' Building Halted

Secret $100,000 Project Halted Because Secretary Of Defense Moves His Office

WASHINGTON, April 18—(INS)—Defense department officials revealed today that construction of a secret $100,000 "hideout" for the joint chiefs of staff has been halted because Defense Secretary Johnson moved his office.

Officials said that between $40,000 and $50,000 already has been spent on the project in the Pentagon Building and that the switch in plans may result in a loss of $10,000 to $12,500.

Work on the elaborate section, replete with a special communications system, huge partitions and iron bars on the windows, was halted last month when it was about half completed.

The area was to be located close to Johnson's office for administrative expediency. But Johnson decided to move into another section of the building and so the carpenters and electricians are expected to start work on another "hideout" nearer the defense secretary's office.

IMPRACTICAL SUGGESTION

The National Association of Manufacturers made the suggestion recently that the Russian and stooge delegates to the recent "cultural" conference held in New York recently to "preserve world peace" be permitted to tour the country, to examine economic conditions in the United States and compare these with the present economic situation in Russia. Many Americans have made similar suggestions, from time to time, in the belief that such a tour would induce the alien visitors to turn their backs on Communism.

The suggested plan is a novel one but, of course, would be ineffective with the Reds permitted to visit us. Those who make the suggestion apparently are not acquainted with the Communist mind and know little of Communist procedure.

If Red visitors from behind the Iron Curtain were invited by us on an investigation tour of the United States what they discovered would have no effect on their Red mentality, no matter how much better they might—and necessarily would—find conditions in the United States.

Russian visitors permitted to come to the United States are open to no argument. Even if they found the American workers living in $50,000 mansions and driving to and from work in Cadillacs, they would eventually go home and denounce the United States as a class-ridden country where the workers were wage slaves of the capitalist class.

Red agents and official Red visitors, such as we get, do not want to be convinced. They are out to help Moscow conquer the world in the belief that they, personally, will benefit by such conquest. If they were any chance that they might be impressed by conditions in America "Good Old Joe" would never permit them to go outside the Iron Curtain.

Furthermore, if they were favorably impressed by conditions in the United States they would never dare admit this orally. To do so would be decidedly unhealthy, unless they remained in the United States. To make a remark praising free enterprise society when returning to Moscow would be equivalent to committing suicide.

Americans who want to convert the official Russian visitors who are permitted inside our borders will have to think of a better one than that. Any tour these alien enemies may take through the country will not be with an open mind, but with one bent on spreading Red propaganda every time they exercise their tonsils.

FREE INFORMATION

Proposed convention on freedom of information, now before the UN General Assembly, is a dubious document as it stands. And there is danger that it will be made worse than meaningless. If that should happen the United States should certainly refuse to sign it—as Edwin D. Canham, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and a member of the American delegation, believes it will do.

As adopted by the UN's Subcommittee on Freedom of Information and the Press, the convention was an acceptable document. But a provision allowing a government to impose censorship on news involving "national military security" has been altered by the Economic and Social Council. The change consisted merely of dropping the word "military." But the effect would be to give a government wide attitude in dealing with outgoing dispatches.

Proposed amendments, offered by Mexico and Poland, would open the door to censorship even wider. One Mexican amendment would authorize censorship on the basis of "national prestige" and "national dignity." Another would require any news organ printing a dispatch to publish a "correction" at the request of a foreign government. The Polish amendment would alter the definition of news material not subject to censorship in such a way that almost anything could be suppressed.

Foreign governments can censor to their heart's content in the absence of any convention on freedom of information. But one that would not change the situation would be valueless. If such an agreement should get UN approval, the prestige of the world organization would be placed behind a sham. The United States ought not to be a party to it.

Too many times when we enact laws with teeth in them they turn out not to have been wisdom teeth.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

An inevitable flood of speculation surged today around the present and future of Georgi Dimitrov, the number two Communist activist of Europe who has ceased to be premier of Bulgaria, ostensibly for reasons of health.

American sources in Sofia believe that there is nothing political in Dimitrov's removal; that he actually is suffering from a severe heart ailment and has gone to Moscow for treatment.

If this is true, it once again brings Dimitrov together with Joseph Stalin, the number one Soviet organizer, in peculiarly appropriate circumstances.

Stalin has heart trouble. Stalin also is believed to have heart trouble and it is not impossible that Stalin has put his Bulgarian disciple under his own doctor's care.

The fact remains, however, that Dimitrov's removal came at a time of internal strife in Bulgaria that has paralleled similar disturbances in Czechoslovakia.

Only a few days ago, it was announced that 300 Bulgarian political and party leaders had been arrested in a general purge that seems to have resulted from a Bulgarian epidemic of what has come to be known as "Titoism."

This is the conformist way of blaming the Yugoslavian dictator for any backsliding toward the western democratic system on the part of anyone in the Soviet satellite countries.

Would Be Real Crack
If it should be found that Dimitrov's illness really is a sham and that he was displaced for political reasons, this would represent one of the greatest cracks ever to occur in the Communist structure.

Communist world was a hero to Tito was a mere nonentity known to a few followers as Josip Broz, whose early background is shrouded in mystery.

The Bulgarian played a leading role in important Communist affairs as long as 15 years ago, when he was sent to Berlin to organize cells in protection against the growing power of Hitlerism.

His importance was attested by the fact that Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering ordered him arrested immediately after the famous Reichstag fire, which Hitler blamed upon the Communists and used as a handy excuse to launch the attacks on Communists and Jews which flared into pogroms that sickened the entire world.

Was Highly Rewarded
For his almost incredible courage in standing up in the courtroom and calling Goering a liar to his face, Dimitrov was highly rewarded by the Kremlin.

He was made a member of the Politburo and acted as top political adviser to Stalin during the Hitler days and throughout the war.

Later came his appointment as premier of the new Bulgaria and as chief of the conformist. His shrewd methods of policymaking became apparent in every post-war move of the Soviet Union, particularly in the days when Communist expansionism had been set

HOW TO AVOID PETTY IMITATIONS

If we could confine all the explosive force of family emotions of all the families of America into one small space, the atomic bomb that rocked Bikini would only be a baby's rattle in comparison. Of course, as long as people are persons, there will always be some annoyance to each member of the family by one or more other members, whether it goes off explosively, or is just ready for a blow up or just sizzles.

Sometimes it may be better to blow up than to go around almost ready to blow up at any time, or just to feel hurt or angry for days and months on end. You read and hear advice to "keep your wife or husband, parent or child. But when are these times? How often is such an explosion desirable? Who is to decide when it shall occur? Should the one holding the bomb decide or should another member of the family press the button?

Clears The Air
The assumption of such advice seems to be that an emotional explosion always clears the air and keeps it clear for a long, long while. But is this so? Suppose Mr. Heater feels awfully angry at Mrs. Heater and vice versa. Suppose he explodes first. Won't his explosion set off hers? Also when he explodes he probably generates more bombs in himself and in her. When she explodes she herself generates more bombs in herself and in him. Each new bomb may grow more potent and each explosion more destructive. And if there are children, what of them? The first explosion between husband and wife may lead to the wrecking not only of their marriage but of the entire family. On the other hand, if the explosion would surely clear the air, the marriage and the family might thereby be saved.

But suppose either the husband or wife goes around with a pocket full of emotional bombs ready to burst if given the proper touch, and the possessor of the bombs is in constant dread lest they might explode, and the other spouse or other members of the family feel no more secure. Then all are jittery. Besides the ready-to-explode bombs generate more of these bombs, even for the pockets of other persons in the family. Or if these bombs, whoever has them, have infinitesimal vents for the slow escape of the pent-up force, even the sizzling gas therefrom may be a constant poison. Just to go around mad hour after hour and day after day makes family life a constant nightmare. To blow up or not to blow up, therefore, is the question.

in motion began to infiltrate countries such as Italy and France. The reason many observers believe that Dimitrov actually is seriously ill lies in the fact that there is no real successor to him.

He governed Bulgaria single-handedly, just as Stalin runs Russia and Tito handles Yugoslavia. His deputy is Vassil Kolarov, a comparatively little-known figure who appears to lack the driving force and vivid personality of Dimitrov.

Russia and its satellites have a constant manner of confronting the world with guessing-games. One day the scene is the Kremlin itself, the next Sofia, Belgrade or Prague. Whether Dimitrov's real status ever will be revealed is a question in itself.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Until now I have always had an amused little smile for mothers who told me what a job it is to bring up little children.

How could it be? Particularly with girls.

These little dears, all "sugar and spice and everything nice" with their cute frilly dresses, their angelic faces, their downy skins, their pink ribbons.

I wasn't ever quite so sure about little boys, having been one myself, and having a faint, faint recollection of broken lamps, pictures torn out of books, frogs in sister's bed and once even a harmless snake which almost frightened mother to death.

But little girls— Well, I apologize to every mother whom I ever suspected of exaggerating the toughness of her job, and I herewith express my deep sympathy to every mother on this earth.

We have just put one of the little darlings on the train after a weekend visit at our house.

As a dutiful uncle I kissed her beautiful little face good-bye, but I kept my hands in my pockets, for fear that instead of kissing her goodbye, I might smack her instead.

And now we are back home, or at least what is left of our home. I have not yet surveyed all the damage.

We are still picking up things, getting the goo off doorknobs, trying to put the keys back into the proper keyholes, and searching for a dozen or so things she playfully hid.

My wife loves the Sunday funny papers. But, alas, the little angel tore them to shreds.

I treasure my television set, but she succeeded in twisting all the dials out of shape. It will cost at least twenty-five dollars to get the thing working again.

Until this weekend I never realized that the main reason kids are put to bed at seven at night is so that they can get up at five in the morning and start the day with happy shouts of joy over the dawning day, expecting every one else to share their energetic happiness.

I never knew that the little darlings insist on opening all your desk drawers and closet doors and pulling out everything within reach.

I never knew that little girls develop a fashion sense at the age of three and delight in trying on their aunts' best dresses, after they have ripped them off the hangers.

I never knew that in a tiny little tot weighing no more than thirty pounds there are five thousand pounds of energy and the destructiveness of a sledgehammer.

I never knew that those piping voices can turn into bellows and shrieks and yells and roars that surpass that of any bull going to his slaughter house doom.

We have had the joy of just such a little angel for three days. It will take us three weeks to get over it. God bless all children and pity the mother who has three or four of them.

BIBLE THOUGHT

That is a good test of thoughts and words. Nothing that offends the infinite can build an eternal structure. At the same time a merry heart doeth good as a medicine. Let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight.—Ps. 19:14.

At the school much time will be allotted to lecture and demonstration by representatives of the Pennsylvania State Police and the Northwestern University Traffic Institute (nationally recognized for its program).

practical and wide in scope, subjects of study will include: benefits of a violators school; parking problems; accident investigation; regulations concerning signs and markings in Pennsylvania; accident reporting and recording; motor vehicle inspection; enforcement policy and tactics; safety education in the school; and benefits of a first aid program.

Many of the above mentioned topics are of real concern to this community, and in addition these other topics will be studied: Education and dealing with the public; local police training; relationship between minor judiciary and police courts and police, and district attorney and police; civil versus criminal responsibility in traffic cases; and case preparation.

It would be nice if some arrangement could be worked for a representative or two from our local police force to attend these sessions in case those who are concerned in arranging such a program wish to get the ball forward. Complete registration information may be obtained from Joseph J. Tortore, course co-ordinator, Institute of Public Safety, The Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY . . . opportunity seems to have an uncanny habit of favoring those who have paid the price of years of preparation.

No Wonder She Quakes!

Personal Equation Of Brannan

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—Perhaps the most guileless understatement of the season came from Charles Franklin Brannan, secretary of agriculture, when he opened his remarks on the Administration Farm Bill at recent committee hearings. He said: "I have no revolutionary ideas to present to you."

He then went forward to propose a measure so sweeping in its scope that Congressmen have yet to do much more than mumble approval or dissent, each according to his general beliefs about the place of government in the economic life of the nation.

Weeks will go by before the intricacies of the proposed Farm Program can be examined in detail. As yet no one, not even the Secretary, can estimate its cost or reasonably predict its results. But in the interim there is something which ought to be averaged into the final judgment. This something is the personal evaluation of Mr. Brannan.

Rose Rapidly In Service
Back in 1929-35 young Mr. Brannan was a struggling lawyer. For reasons of his own he accepted the post of assistant regional attorney for the Agriculture Department. He rose rapidly in the service, becoming regional director of the Farm Security Administration, assistant director of the department and then assistant secretary.

Last year when Secretary Clinton Anderson decided to run for senator from New Mexico, Mr. Brannan became a Cabinet member. Immediately he also became one of the busiest and most personable of the President's top dealers.

Last summer Mr. Brannan left his department desk for a campaign through the Farm Belt. For weeks on end he spoke almost daily, at big and little gatherings, promising wonderful things in the event of Mr. Truman's unlikely election. He was keen and he had keen young men to help mold his speeches and strategy.

Early in September they had a lucky break. Harold Stassen emerged from a confab with Candidate Dewey and made a loose remark which suggested that there was a direct connection between high prices and the money spent to support farm products. "We've got 'em on the hook," one of the Brannan speech-writers confided to your correspondent. "And we're not going to let 'em off. From now on we'll keep on pounding that point—the Republicans are against farm support programs and we're for them." How well Mr. Brannan pounded that point was attested on November 2nd when Mr. Brannan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and California gave their farm votes to Candidate Truman.

Attempts To Redeem Promises
Since the opening of the 81st Congress, Mr. Brannan has made two attempts to redeem the promises he scattered through the West. He was one of the Administration's star witnesses on the so-called Stabilization Bill. This measure called for a series of stand-by controls over industrial prices, production, wages and planned economy and, if dreams came true, of planned prosperity.

Mr. Brannan's second attempt is the Farm Program for which he is now spokesman. Considered against the foregoing background, the Brannan Plan is more than an act to aid American agriculture. It is, first of all, a scheme to retain prosperity, not merely stability, among farmers. It aims to peg farm income at the boom period of 1939-49—an all-time annual high of $26.2 billion.

In the second place, the Brannan Plan is geared to lower prices at the grocery store while supporting them at the farm. As one of the Brannan staff members told your correspondent: "It would be impossible under our system to give away food." Nothing quite so politically wonderful is contemplated, but this remark demonstrates the flexibility of Tru Deal economic thinking.

Substitute For Doomed Bill
Also, the Farm Program can be considered as a rough substitute for the doomed Stabilization Bill. The Brannan Plan would chastize industry which would bear the brunt of taxes to support the Farm Program. It would start a decline of retail prices which Tru Dealers could then warn industry to follow, although without the help of government subsidy or relief from rising labor costs.

Finally, it is helpful to consider what the Brannan Plan means to Mr. Brannan himself, the Midwest lawyer who left home and made good in this most glamorous and exciting city. He would be less than human if he did not see the Farm Program as a vehicle to personal triumph, to greater powers, responsibility and Tru Deal acclaim.

This last need not be said with any cynicism. Mr. Brannan is a modest man and no empire-builder. Still, it is on record that for 14 years he has pursued a career which has treated him kindly. And the Brannan Plan plus the Stabilization Plan are clear enough proof that the secretary is quite willing to change the existing economic order of the country he serves. Unless such ideas are "revolutionary," we need to coin another phrase.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright 1949, By The Baltimore Sun)

See Challenge In Taft Campaign

WASHINGTON, April 18. SO FAR as the 1950 congressional elections are concerned, practically everybody agrees the most interesting and important contest will be in Ohio, where Senator Robert A. Taft comes up for re-election to a third term. There are two views of what will constitute the issue in that State.

ONE is expressed by political and journalistic advocates of the old Roosevelt New Deal and the new Truman "Fair Deal." These proclaim that Senator Taft's Democratic opponent will be the "popular and progressive" Gov. Frank Lausche. This, it is said, will create a clean-cut issue between "True Liberalism" and "Standpat Conservatism." The best chance yet will thus be presented the voters of a great State to show which political philosophy they prefer and in what direction they want the country to go. The trouble with this view is that it deliberately ignores the facts and obscures the real issue, which can be stated as follows: "Shall the labor bosses of the AFL and the CIO be permitted to drive out of public life the outstanding member of the United States Senate whose ability and character are not questioned, even by his enemies, solely because he refuses to accept dictation from them?"

THIS view is buttressed by the following points: (1) Mr. Taft is chief sponsor of a law which in two years has impaired neither the rights nor the health of any union, but to some extent has curbed the unlimited power of the bosses, used to damage the national interests and which could be used to menace the national existence; (2) because of this a campaign of unrestrained vilification has been waged against Mr. Taft by the union bosses and their propaganda machines in an effort to make him appear an evil man, the "Arch-enemy of Labor"; (3) these bosses have proclaimed their purpose to destroy Mr. Taft in 1950. Both GJO and AFL publications are full of plans to do exactly that. One AFL leader, testifying before a Senate committee recently, glaring at Mr. Taft, shouted: "Wait till next year. Our boys will attend to you." Their publicity regularly reeks with these threats. Clearly, every ounce of strength that can be mustered will be used to beat him. It is said the CIO alone is prepared to spend $1,000,000 in Ohio to achieve that result.

BUT for this fight of the labor bosses against Mr. Taft there would be not the slightest doubt of his re-election. Neither Governor Lausche nor anyone else could defeat him. Even with the labor bosses going the limit, Senator Taft's friends believe he will win. Under no illusions as to the kind of campaign that will be made and the character of his real foes, Mr. Taft will fight harder than he ever did before. He will have to. A ruthless and determined foe seeks his political life. Governor Lausche and his "progressive policies" do not figure importantly at all. This is a desperate struggle between Senator Taft and the labor bosses, supported by a subservient White House, a servile Democratic National Committee and the lapsed "liberal" columnists. That is why it is of national significance. That is why it is regardless of party or residence, it is a challenge that cannot be ignored.

FOR it must be clear if the allied labor bosses succeed in killing off Mr. Taft, no other member of the Senate or House will dare stand up against them. To be black-listed by the labor bosses will be the end of public service. Under such conditions men of intelligence and courage would shun public life. Congress would become exclusively a body of sycophantic labor-union tools. If Mr. Taft can be defeated it marks the end of his kind of men in public affairs—men able and unafraid, men with convictions, self-respect and courage. For such men there would be no inducement whatever to enter Congress, every reason for keeping out. These being the facts, the success of Senator Taft next year would seem vital to every citizen interested in keeping the public service from sinking to the lowest level. Certainly, it is important to those who want to see men of capacity and courage in all branches of the Government and who would be unhappy under the domination of arrogant labor bosses, distressed over a Senate exclusively composed of Peppers and Murphys.

WHETHER he likes Mr. Taft's political views or not, it is difficult to see how any thoughtful citizen can escape the conclusion that his defeat would erect insurmountable obstacles to the entry of decent men into public life. That is not an extreme statement. It is in absolute accord with the facts, and an extraordinary number of Democrats, in Congress and out, strongly hold this view. Most Democratic members know a Taft defeat would make congressional service intolerable to self-respecting men. Those out of Congress know it would greatly strengthen the CIO hold on their party, increase its influence over the White House, in effect, mean a labor boss dictatorship. In its recent convention the raucous "liberal" group which calls itself "Americans for Democratic Action" and is dominated by the Messrs. Murray and Reuther of the CIO, marked Mr. Taft as its principal target for 1950.

WHEN the implications of this anti-Taft drive are more fully grasped, there is reason to believe a nonpartisan movement to avert what would be not far from a general disaster will develop in the country. Already sensing the significance and resentful at the mendacious propaganda pouring out including the false statement that this senatorial fight is preliminary to another Taft effort for the Presidency, men from other states are asking, "What can we do?" And saying, "If the man, knock Bob Taft off, there will be no holding them anywhere," which is true.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

TIME AND TRIUMPH
He looked ahead through doubts
Doubts and fears
And whispered to himself: "Ten years
Must come and go. How long they'll seem
Ere I can build what's now a dream!
Ten years before a church will stand
Upon this barren plot of land."

Those ten long years have taken flight
And brighter than the candle light
Upon the altar was the gleam
Of joy in an accomplished dream
That lit his eyes as proudly he Walked round that lovely church with me.

Done was the need through doubt
to grope.
No longer fear was threatening
hope.
Ten years before but few believed
So great a task could be achieved.
There stood the church in brick and stone.
Said he: "So fast ten years have flown!"

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE TAX IS SAFE

The members of Congress who are strong for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act are centering their fire on Robert Denham, counsel for the NLRB, on the claim that he is advocating the retention of the law. They charge him with bias against Unions, although his official record has not even successfully questioned judicially. Mr. Denham's official duty is only to interpret the law as he understands it.

Meanwhile, the most active proponent for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act is the Secretary of Labor of the United States, Maurice Tobin. Mr. Tobin has taken an oath to support and enforce the laws of the Constitution, but he isn't keeping his oath.

Why The Difference
Why should Mr. Denham be sniped for doing his official duty in upholding enforcement of the law, while Mr. Tobin is applauded for violating his oath by refusing to enforce and advocating abolition of the law? Isn't sauce for the goose sauce for the gander in America any more?

Don't worry. The Taft-Hartley Bill will not be disturbed to any great extent, if at all.

Attempt Made To
Rob Long Avenue
Market Saturday

Attempt was made Saturday night to rob Dave Toney's market, in Long avenue.

Due to previous burglaries he fixed a trap which consisted of a board, which if moved, would result in the electric lights going on.

When the board was moved Saturday night, the lights came on, but this frightened the burglar who did not enter.

However, police took a cast of a tennis shoe print, and are quizzing two young boys.

NAM Believes U.S. Under Big Illusion

Believes U.S. Moving Toward Collectivism Under Illusion Of Vast Resources

NEW YORK, April 18.—(INS)—The National Association of Manufacturers believes the United States is moving steadily toward collectivism under the "great illusion" that federal resources are "inexhaustible and free."

A statement based on a study written by Thomas S. Holden, president of the F. W. Dodge Corp., who is chairman of the federal grants-in-aid subcommittee of the NAM's government spending committee, was issued last night.

Holden said the tendency of federal aid to cities and states "to alter the structure of American government" is even more important than the financial aspects of the program. He warned:

"Partly from lack of public understanding, partly from inadequate resistance to pressure groups, the United States is moving steadily toward collectivism."

Air Force To Have Routine War Games

Will Conduct Two Months Of War Games To Test Defenses Of Industrial Centers

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS)—The air force said Friday that it will conduct two months of "routine" aerial war games beginning May 1 to test defenses of the nation's industrial centers.

The air force said that bombers of the strategic air command will make simulated attacks on six or more of the largest cities in the northeastern United States.

Fighter fleets from the continental air command will attempt to intercept the bombers. The air force said that radar also will be used in an effort to detect the bombers' approach. This will involve the use of radar networks and radar aircraft control nets.

The air force said the games are designed to test and further develop defenses of such cities as New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Boston and Baltimore.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

GARDEN NOTES

When planting lilies of the better kinds, be sure to put them in good, well-drained soil and in a location not entirely exposed to the full sun.

Now is the time to get the upper hand over weeds. Kill them when they are small and save backaches later.

Many of the hardy annuals seed themselves freely and, if the ground is left undisturbed, an abundance of seedling plants can be salvaged. These will transplant readily and often make more rapid development than seedlings started in a hotbed or cold frame.

Plants in the house will be taking on new life now. Any requiring repotting may be safely attended to at this time. Sweet peas may be sown out-of-doors as soon as the ground is fit to work. Deep digging with liberal enrichment of the soil are necessary for best results.

Radishes can be sown thinly in drills with beets, carrots or parsnips as they come up quickly and break the surface for the other seedlings when pulled.

Presbyterians To Have Presbyterial

Sessions Thursday, April 21, At Mahoningtown Presbyterian Church

Women of the Presbyterian churches of Shenango Presbytery will have their spring presbyterial Thursday, April 21, in Mahoningtown Presbyterian church with Mrs. E. E. Moon, Sharpville, president, presiding. "Lead On, Oh, King," will be the meeting's theme.

The morning session at 10 o'clock by a prayer group under the direction of Mrs. R. R. Throop, Bessemer church. The host church will furnish coffee for a box luncheon at noon. After an executive meeting at 1 o'clock, Rev. Howard Redmond, pastor of Mahoningtown church, will open the afternoon period with a 15-minute recital of piano music.

Rev. William H. McConaghy, director of institute of racial and cultural relations of the Board of Christian Education, will speak in the morning. Rev. Thomas Russell, United Presbyterian church pastor and also a chalk artist, will lead devotions.

Mrs. Dexter Lutz, Presbyterian missionary on furlough from Korea, where she teaches in a girls' school, will be the afternoon speaker. Installation of officers will also take place at that time.

Housing Conditions Believed Improving

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Realtors Association said today the elimination of rent controls in parts of four Pennsylvania counties was "proof that housing conditions are improving."

Standby state rent controls proposed in the General Assembly also were criticized by President Oscar B. Quinto, of Philadelphia. The areas decontrolled by Federal Housing Expediter Tighe Woods were in Fayette, Greene, Butler and Somerset counties.

"This in itself is proof that we do not need state rent controls which would continue until May 1, 1951," Quinto said. "If controls can be removed in these areas more decontrol actions must certainly follow. All this has been done since the effective date of the new federal rent control act March 31."

London, April 18.—(INS)—The London Daily Herald said Saturday that every British soldier will be available for the summer maneuvers which will be conducted under Western Europe's defense plan.

The newspaper said all three British armed services will participate in the exercises, which are being mapped by the joint chiefs of staff at Fontainebleau, France.

The Daily Express said American military experts are helping to plan the exercises. The British defense ministry has ordered its officers to make the maneuvers "as realistic as possible."

According to the newspaper, strategy for the defense of Western Europe will be laid before the British cabinet in the near future.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—Michael O'Shea, a bonafide cowboy from Brooklyn, would rather be a western star than be president.

But movie producers won't chuck O'Shea into a horse opera. Probably because he happens to be one of the finest horsemen in the film colony and personally rides herd on the 800 cattle at his 3600-acre Arizona ranch.

Which is typically Hollywood. It would be too obvious to make a cowboy star out of an actor who knows which side of a steed to climb aboard.

Likes Western Roles

So Mike O'Shea keeps playing away from western roles—and keeps busy making like gangsters, writers, funny guys and other assorted characters on the screen.

He has one of the most thorough dramatic backgrounds in the movie dodge. Long before he hied west to emote in front of the cameras, O'Shea—whose old man happened to be a blacksmith in New York City—collected dough as a bricklayer, cabin boy, carnival spieler, bellhop, band leader, night club M.C., burlesque comedian, stage actor and radio performer.

Expounds Theories

Last time we saw Mike—over a tall coke in the Brown Derby—he expounded his theories on the entertainment business.

"There are three kinds of entertainment," he said. "Pictures, the stage and radio."

O'Shea, who has done all right in all three, pitched it this way:

"Radio is for guys who like to lounge around a swimming pool all day. Then, one afternoon a week they hurry into the studio, rehearse a couple of hours—and record their program on tape. Then they go back to their swimming pool and lounge around until next week.

"Back in New York," he went on, "I used to play six soap operas a day. They're all the same. You can use the script of one show at any spot in another and it will make just about as much sense."

"On radio soap operas the three most foolproof angles are dogs, doctors and Abraham Lincoln. Someday some smart cookie will write a radio serial called 'Abraham Lincoln's Doctor's Dog' and make a million.

Married To Doll

O'Shea, who is married to Virginia Mayo, one of Hollywood's most delectable dolls, allowed as how movie work was the most perfect of any of the three types of entertainment.

About the stage—and he was discovered by Hollywood during a Broadway performance—Mike had this to offer:

"The stage primarily is for guys who don't care about lounging around swimming pools and who don't basically worry about dough. Freddie March is an average example. He only comes back to Hollywood to make a picture when he needs some more money to keep working on Broadway."

"The average stage actor is interested primarily in 'his art.' Me—I'll take the movies."

Bellhop Once

O'Shea, who used to bellhop at the swank Ambassador hotel in Gotham, the same joint where he now is an honored guest every time he visits New York, recently attended the King and Queen's command performance in London.

When he was a young buck before the acting bug nipped him, Mike made 35 Atlantic round-trips on ocean liners as a cabin boy.

"This last trip was a kick," he recalled. "I'd never been a paying passenger on a big ship before. And everytime some passenger hollered 'Boy!' I automatically jumped."

Government Funds For 81st Congress Totals 21 Billions

Government Funds In 81st Congress Spending By Six Billions

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS) Government appropriations voted so far in the Democratic 81st Congress today total six billion dollars more than the funds approved by the Republican 80th Congress.

The House Thursday passed the last of the annual supply bills for government departments and agencies for the 1950 fiscal year beginning July 1. The cash appropriations totaled approximately 28 billion 270 million dollars.

In addition, the House has voted approximately one billion 734 million dollars in deficiency funds to pay increased government costs for the current 1949 fiscal year ending June 30. This brought to approximately 30 billion dollars the cash appropriations made so far by the House.

The Senate has not yet acted finally on any appropriation bill this year. If past history furnishes any precedent, the Senate probably will boost the sums voted by the House.

Last year the 80th Congress voted $23,997,632,532 for government departments and agencies and the District of Columbia, approximately six billion dollars less than has been appropriated so far in this Congress.

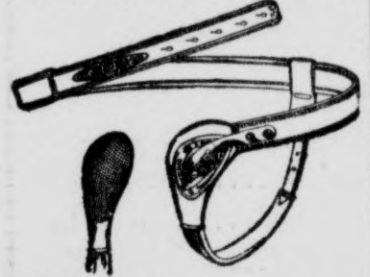

Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations committee, contends that the deficiency funds should be charged up to the Republican Congress on the theory that they failed to appropriate sufficient funds for the government.

In a table submitted by Cannon, the deficiency appropriations were added to the 24 billion dollars appropriated by the 80th Congress last year. This brought the total for the 1949 fiscal year to 25 billion 731 million dollars.

Thus, on the basis of Cannon's computations, the 81st Congress has voted so far approximately 2½ billion dollars in excess of that approved by the Republicans last year.

The forum sessions are getting better and better in attendance and participation.

Jealousy Insurance

We all know that young children have to make a good many adjustments when a new baby arrives. Even though parents may thoughtfully have done many things to avoid unnecessarily arousing feelings of jealousy, it is difficult to control the behavior of friends and relatives.

One wise pediatrician, who is as interested in the social and emotional health of children as in their physical well-being, suggests a simple thing to insure against upsets when people bring presents to the baby and forget all about the other youngsters. He advocates having a supply of small gifts on hand—things from the five-and-ten-cent store, perhaps—so that one can be brought out whenever the baby is given something by a visitor. Such a procedure is likely to cause the older child to welcome guests with an interest in the newcomer, since a toy of his own will be forthcoming at the same time.

This jealousy insurance is especially desirable when the "big" brother or sister is still too young really to understand and accept attention devoted largely to the baby.

Mine Cave-In Tax To Be Proposed

Tax To Help Fix Damage Done By Mine Cave-Ins To Be Introduced In House

SCRANTON, Pa., April 18.—(INS)—A proposed tax of two cents a ton on coal for rehabilitation of mine damage was described on Thursday as a "drop of water to a thirsty man."

William Green, president of the Anthracite Rehabilitation association, said an administration-backed measure proposing the levy will be introduced in the House of Representatives Monday, but pointed out the legislation should be "only the beginning."

"A thirsty man is not ungrateful for a drop of water, but he isn't satisfied," he explained. Green said the money raised through the tax would not be enough to put out mine fires, let alone provide funds to repair property damage.

He pointed out that the association will fight for more adequate legislation, saying provisions should be made also for reclaiming areas damaged by strip mining.

Scientists Think Unknown Nutrient Is Vitamin B-12

Unidentified Food Material Found In 1932 Has Been Known As Only Nutrient X

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS)—Government scientists are convinced that the unidentified nutrient in milk they've known about since 1932 actually is vitamin B-12. This food material—known up to now simply as nutrient X—has been found in milk, cheese, leafy foods and liver extracts.

B-12 is the name commercial chemists of one company have applied to the material they recently isolated in crystalline form from liver extracts.

It is the substance that makes the extracts effective in the treatment of pernicious anemia.

Using laboratory rats, agriculture department scientists C. A. Cary and A. M. Hartman have proved that insofar as growth is concerned B-12 and nutrient X have the same effects.

But milk and others foods which contain nutrient X are not directly effective in the treatment of pernicious anemia.

Cary and Hartman think this may be because the substance is not in a form easily utilized by sufferers from the disease.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERP

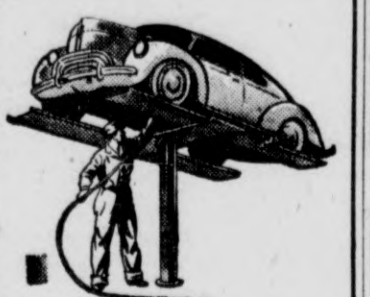

There was a bit of a mystery in Cambridge, Mass., some years ago, and Charles Morton, of the Atlantic Monthly, tells how it was solved. One of the town's leading churches boasted a clock with a fine set of chimes that rang out perfectly every hour on the hour. Perfectly, that is, twenty-three hours out of twenty-four. At midnight, folks noticed that the chimes were ringing thirteen times!

The mechanism was checked and rechecked to no avail. Then one canny inspector noted that the church adjoined one of the dormitories of Harvard. He established an outpost in the belfry and trained his binoculars on the dormitory windows.

Sure enough, as the first chimes of midnight rang out, a light went on in one of the windows and dis-

MORE HOME SEWING

WEST WARREN, Mass.—(INS)—Total sales of patterns for home sewing during 1948 is estimated in excess of 185,000,000. The William E. Wright and Sons company, manufacturer of trimmings and ribbons, points out that pattern sales in 1941 numbered only 41,000,000.

Local Government Tax Collections Show Big Increase

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(INS)

—The State Department of Internal Affairs today reported that local governments collected a total of $360,842,747 in taxes during 1947, an increase of about 20 million dollars over the preceding year.

In a report of a recently completed survey of the 1947 local tax picture, Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., said assessed valuation for local tax purposes continued to rise during the year.

"The total taxable valuation of all real estate, occupation and personal property in Pennsylvania rose in that year to $11,305,200,886," Livengood said. "This is a one year increase of $441,723,017 or four per cent."

The increases, he added, was due to increased tax rates and valuation.

The first steel made in an arc electric furnace in the United States was tapped in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1904.

BORO PROPOSED

While the matter is entirely in the conversational stage, the idea of a boro being formed out of the southern part of Neshannock township has been suggested.

The idea suggested would make a boro out of that part of Neshannock township lying between New Castle and a line north of the New Castle Country Club. If the idea goes any farther it would mean a petition and later a vote of the township.

Experts Plan Smog Test At Donora

DONORA, Pa., April 18—(INS)—Two experts on air pollution opposed tests scheduled in Donora today to simulate the smog which killed 22 and caused illness to hundreds last October.

United States Public Health Service engineers claimed, however, there is no danger of another tragedy and ordered the American Steel and Wire company zinc works to operate smelters full blast.

PHS engineers said the four-day test period is safe unless weather conditions approximate those of last October. They promised to cancel the operation if the weather is risky.

TWO ARE KILLED IN PLANE ACCIDENT

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., April 18—Two men were fatally injured Sunday when their single-engine plane crashed into a meadow before an Easter family gathering two miles south of here.

Inspector Edward Fagani, of the State Police Aeronautics Division, identified the victims as Bruce Perry, Jr., 25, the pilot, and Robert Sprechler, 24, both of Shippensburg.

The pair, brothers-in-law, had been to a family dinner at the farm home of Donald Cressler, Shippensburg, R. D. 2, and were flying over the farm when the accident occurred, Fagani said.

Pennsylvania was the first state to pass meat inspection laws and the first to establish a livestock sanitary service designed to prevent and control spread of animal diseases, the State Department of Commerce says.

D.A.R. Convention Sessions Opening At Washington

WASHINGTON, April 18—(INS)—More than 5,000 members of the daughters of the American Revolution are assembled in the capital today for the opening session of the DAR's fifty-eighth Continental Congress.

President General Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne of Brookville, Ind., has announced that patriotism and national defense will be the twin keynotes of the week-long meeting. The congress will be called to order at 8:30 p.m. EST tonight to hear an invocation by Rear Admiral William N. Thomas, chief of Navy chaplains.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, wife of the undersecretary of commerce, will then sing the Star-Spangled Banner. Mrs. Whitney is the former Eleanor Searle, a prominent concert and radio soprano.

The main speaker at the first session will be Sen. Karl Mundt (R) S.D., who will discuss "Our American Destiny—1949."

The congress will continue all during Easter week at Constitution Hall, just a stone's throw from the White House. It will end on Friday night with the annual DAR banquet.

Pittsburgh Brakeman Killed At Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 18.—(INS)—A brakeman was killed yesterday and two trainmen injured when a Pennsylvania railroad freight train was derailed three miles east of Johnstown.

The dead man was Robert Cook, 39, of Pittsburgh. One track of the road's four lines was cleared shortly after the 30 cars were derailed.

Fireman R. J. Easley, 28, of Freeport was taken to the Johnstown hospital, suffering from a back injury. Engineer E. L. Croft, 62, of Freeport was treated for an elbow injury and released.

The reason a bump forms on a person's head when he knocks it is that this sets the blood flowing to the injured part in order to repair the damage. Some of this blood, or some fluid from it, usually leaks out of the blood vessels and seeps in among the fibres of the muscles and the other tissues. This makes the tissues swell and shows on the surface as a bump.

Soldiers' Bonus Financing Plan Before Legislators

Bonus Will Be Voted On By Pennsylvanians At November Election

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(INS)—The heaviest legislative schedule of the four-month-old 1949 General Assembly today confronted Pennsylvania's lawmakers.

Assemblymen, entering their next to last week of the session, are slated to act on measures affecting the pocketbooks and welfare of nearly every Pennsylvanian. Heading the list is consideration of a method of solving the biggest tax riddle in the commonwealth's history—financing the proposed half-billion dollar soldiers' bonus. The electorate will vote this year on whether to approve the necessary bond issue sanctioned by the assembly.

Dormant for nearly three months since the legislature gave its final approval to the bonus, the problem of amortizing the $500,000,000 grant jumped into the legislative spotlight when it was learned that the Duff administration has been attempting to resolve the issue in behind-the-scenes talks.

Additional taxes to finance the bonus are regarded by lawmakers as a certainty, whether enacted by the current session of the legislature or by the 1951 session.

A general sales tax has been the most often mentioned solution to the problem. Gov. James M. Duff, although privately favoring a general sales tax, several months ago indicated that the commonwealth is not yet ready to accept such a levy.

Regardless if new taxes are established within the next two weeks, the bonus proposal will be submitted to the electorate during November balloting.

Any new taxes set up by the assembly now would hinge upon approval of the electorate.

Wallace Beery To Be Buried Tuesday

Will Be Buried In Forest Lawn Memorial Park After Public Funeral

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—(INS)—Wallace Beery, filmstar, "be-loved" actor, will be buried tomorrow in Forest Lawn Memorial Park after a public funeral in the Church of the Resurrection.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Ross Shaffer of Glendale. Many of Hollywood's most important figures are expected to attend the rites for the 64-year-old one-time circus roustabout who became one of the screen's most durable stars.

Beery died late Friday night of a heart attack which climaxed a long-standing cardiac ailment.

Active pallbearers will be Louis B. Mayer, head of M-G-M studios; E. J. Mannix and William Lyon, studio executives; Superior Judge Samuel Blake; Fred and Matt Gilman, brothers of Beery's second wife; Lou Gill, a hunting companion, and Phil Berg, his business agent.

Numerous celebrities are to be among the honorary pallbearers.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

WHO'S AFRAID?

People are afraid of hobgoblins and doctors and preachers and policemen and thunder.

Who's afraid of a stair step or a cigarette or a tin can or a rusty nail or a chicken bone?

Grandma falls down a step or two and goes to the hospital. Minnie smokes in bed and burns the house down.

Mom opens a can and has to call the doctor. Benny steps on a nail and has a lot of trouble.

Dad swallows a chicken bone and has to have an X-ray.

Let's do a lot of talking about these home accidents. Perhaps it might help some.

Maybe Shadrack's grand aunt Mrs. Abednego thought so too.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Buster wants a definition of public health. All right, here goes.

"Public health is the science and the art of preventing disease, prolonging life and promoting physical and mental health and efficiency through organized community efforts for the sanitation of the environment, the control of community infections, the education of the individual in principles of personal hygiene, the organization of medical and nursing services for the early diagnosis and treatment of disease, and the development of the social machinery which will insure to every individual in the community a standard of living adequate maintenance of health."

Our superintendent of schools would probably call that a pretty long sentence. Maybe the judge would too.

Perhaps it would be enough for Buster to say that public health is the business of trying to keep people healthy and comfortable and happy.

A pig may be comfortable but not happy.

A convict may be healthy but not comfortable.

A child with rickets may be happy but not healthy.

If Buster keeps on with the church and the school and other good helpers he may be able to do something for public health. Who knows?

JOBS UPON A TIME

One of the most colorful figures in the American Revolution JOHN PAUL JONES was a swash-buckling sailor who was born in the parish of Kirkcubbin, Solway Firth, Scotland, July 6, 1747. Of matchless courage, his fiery temper led him into many difficulties. Becoming a cabin boy at 12, he soon became chief mate of a slave ship. A ship's carpenter he had flogged for desertion, died. When the crew of a ship he had purchased mutinied, he killed the ring leader. He fled to the American colonies where he changed his name. He joined the Continental Navy and eventually came in command of the Bon Homme Richard which defeated the British man-of-war Serapis in a great sea fight, September 23, 1779. His own ship sinking, he seized the Serapis. The Revolution over, he became an admiral of the Russian navy and enjoyed the confidence of Czarina Catherine the Great. He died in France in 1792.

Born February 15, 1882, son of a famous theatrical family, JOHN BARRYMORE, actor made a success of both stage and screen roles. He made his first stage appearance in Magda in 1903. The Jest in 1919, Shakespeare's Richard III the following year and Hamlet—one of his most successful roles. In 1923, He starred for years in motion pictures, in such films as The Sea Beast, Beau Brummel, Don Juan, Svengali, The Mad Genius, Moby Dick, and on the stage in 1940 in My Dear Children. He was four times wed, was called "The Great Profile" and "The Great Lover", and he died May 29, 1942.

members of Congress, who have been favorably affected by the very satisfactory change in their own personal income tax returns, are all for it. The Democrats who voted to override the President's veto of the Bill, originally, and the Republicans themselves who take care of the situation will see to it that no increase of their income tax will be accomplished.

SCIENCE OFFERS MORE HELP TO HARD OF HEARING

What science now knows about the causes of deafness and what can be done to help the hard of hearing is the subject of a free booklet offered by Western Electric.

Based on research at the world-famous Bell Telephone Laboratories, "Modern Science and Your Hearing" depicts the recent advances of science in the realm of hearing and offers hope and encouragement that the hard of hearing may live more useful, happier lives.

The demand for this popular booklet has been exceptionally large, and a new supply is being printed. Anyone with a hearing problem should write immediately to Western Electric, Dept. 380-18, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

sives anyway, there may be times when it is better for us to blow up early. Yet we pride ourselves that we are superior to the brute and able to master ourselves.

While we cannot hope to escape being irritated in the family at the other spouse, at the children, or at any other persons there, we can, by understanding each other member of the family better, have less occasion to feel vexed at him. Also by taking thought and exercising long continuous self-discipline we can less often arouse anger in him. The time when we can do most to manage ourselves in wrath is when we are calm and angerless.

Certainly, toward our children

we can hardly justify our ever losing steady hold of the wheel by which we pilot our emotions and our expressions of them. (My bulletin, "How To Control Your Temper" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.) More on this tomorrow.

Mt. Jackson School To Present Operetta

Will Present Harvey Loomis Adaptation Of Gounod's Opera 'Faust'

Do you still cling to superstitions? They belong in ancient history, not modern America. At least the music department of Mt. Jackson high school only laughs at the idea that Friday, May 13, will be an unlucky night to present the Harvey Loomis adaptation of Gounod's opera "Faust" in a prologue and three acts.

Faust, an aged scholar, despairing of ever gaining the true knowledge of all life's mysteries, determines to end his existence. By cursing all the good things, he evolves the powers of evil, until the devil Mephistopheles appears. The fiend offers to give Faust youth, love and all that go with them, if he in return will pledge his soul to the devil. Under the influence of a beautiful vision of Margarita, summoned by Mephistopheles, the contract is signed. The devil thereupon begins to satisfy the greatest desires of Faust.

Faust, aged philosopher, Edwin Brandt; Mephistopheles, the evil spirit, Bruce Brown; Margarita, a village maiden, Shirley Hayes; Valentine, her brother, Wayne Emery; Seibel, a village youth devoted to Margarita, Jerry Tindall; Wagner, a soldier, Harry Witherspoon; and Martha, the town gossip, Mary Scott.

The operetta is under the direction of Miss A. Martha Matthews, speech coach, and Mrs. Anita Scott, music director.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Ladies handbags that work like refrigerators and phone booths will be in on the market next fall.

They'll have lights that switch on automatically when the purse is opened!

Makers of Korset purses—who tried to keep their idea secret—are planning to install tiny bulbs 'n batteries under the handle frames of their autumn handbags. They'll be called rummage lights.

Women will have to pay slightly more.

But they'll get radiated rummaging!

Youthful Slayer Attempts Suicide In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—(INS)—Charles H. Norman, West Philadelphia youth charged with the holdup slaying of two state liquor store clerks, was placed under constant observation in a prison hospital today following a reported suicide attempt in his cell.

A guard outside the cell door left a few moments to get him a glass of water early yesterday and returned to find him unconscious on the cell floor.

Lands On Head
The youth was reported to have climbed to the top of the bars on the cell door and then plunged nearly 10 feet to the floor, landing on his head.

Norman was nabbed last week after the holdup of a haberdasher within a hundred yards of the liquor store where the two clerks were slain and another wounded.

Police said they have a signed confession from Norman admitting the slayings as well as a number of other holdups.

Steal New Safe, Loot Totals $100

WYNCOTE, Pa., April 18.—A month ago burglars broke into the Ogontz laundry in Wyncote and cleaned up, battering open a safe and fleeing with $1200.

This time they took the safe away. It contained $100.

Hirohito To Show Austerity To Japs

Emperor Will Stint And Save To Avoid Unnecessary Pomp During Tour

TOKYO, April 18.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito will try to give an example in austerity to his people when he travels through Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu in mid-May.

In keeping with the austerity program ordered for Japan by the Americans, the emperor will stint and save to avoid all unnecessary pomp during the tour of the island.

The biggest saving will be in his entourage. Where throngs of imperial servants bustled attendance upon the emperor in previous tours, only 25 will be with him next month. Of these, seven are members of his suite, eight are drivers and mechanics and ten are clerks and assistants.

Strict orders have been sent heads of the communities which will be visited by the emperor. The orders include:

Alcoholic beverages will not be offered members of the imperial entourage because, in keeping with austerity, they have pledged not to drink anything alcoholic during the tour. That knocks the edge off the traditional Geisha parties, which are dull evenings without rice wine.

The emperor will stay at "ordinary hotels" and eat "the simplest meals." The orders to the provinces said "it is hoped that any special facilities, furniture or bedding will not be considered for his comfort."

Relief Rolls In State Increasing

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's general rolls increased by 510 persons during the week ended April 9 and the State Department of Public Assistance today said the rate of increase dropped to one-third of the preceding week.

Compilation of old age assistance, aid to dependent children and blind pension statistics for March darkened the relief picture somewhat.

Total Jumps
The DPA disclosed the relief total had jumped 13,420 by the end of March. Coupled with the general assistance rise for the first two weeks in April, the relief rolls were pushed to 342,740 persons at the close of the reported week.

Expenditures during March amounted to $10,144,000 of which the federal government contributed $3,643,000.

HOW SHOULD THE RING-BEARER BE DRESSED?

"I have a little boy six years old who has been asked to be ring-bearer in our niece's wedding. It is to be a formal evening wedding. Will you please tell me what he should wear? (2) I presume we are to make our hotel reservation and take care of the bill. Is this correct?"

Answer: He should wear a white suit—one of those cute little suits with knee-length shorts and matching jacket.

(2) Make your own hotel reservation and arrange to pay the bill unless otherwise instructed by the bride's family. If possible, the bride's family should take care of out-of-town members of the wedding party either at their own home, the home of a friend or relative, or at a hotel.

Question: I shall marry soon and I am planning to have a home wedding. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be taken care of; am I right in thinking that written invitations should be sent out?

Answer: If you will have a formal wedding, send out formal, engraved invitations. If your wedding will be informal, send out invitations written in the first person.

Question: Is it essential for the guest-of-honor to wait until all of the guests have left before leaving a party?

Answer: The guest-of-honor should be the first to leave. All other guests should, if possible, wait until the guest-of-honor leaves.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Better Than Average Wheat Crop In State

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(INS)—The State Agriculture department today predicted a "better than average" wheat crop in Pennsylvania this year.

A survey of state wheat producers on April 1 disclosed an estimated anticipated yield of 22 bushels per acre.

State farmers seeded 936,000 acres of winter wheat last fall, bringing the 1949 crop estimate to 20,592,000 bushels, according to the department. Farmers harvested 18,354,000 bushels during 1948 when black stem rust caused heavy losses.

Although protective snow cover for wheat, rye and barley plantings was unusually light during the winter, mild temperatures did not permit much soil freezing, the department said.

ECA Plans Study Of European Aviation

Will Include Problem Of Competition Between American And European Airlines

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS)—Officials disclosed today that the economic cooperation administration is planning a broad, comprehensive study of the European aviation industry.

The probe will cover not only requirements of the European recovery nations for United States planes and aircraft parts but also will include the important problem of competition between American and European airlines.

Glenn H. Craig, deputy director of ECA's industry division, said no definite plans have been made as yet but indicated that the study will be started in the near future. Craig declared that the examination of western Europe's air industry may be launched by ECA in Washington or it may be carried on in Paris by the organization for European economic cooperation. The OECE is a top-level European group made up of representatives of the 19 recovery nations.

The ECA official said no such investigation ever has been made by ECA or OECE. He added that "we are convinced that an intensive study has to be made" covering the problem.

Craig's statement came as some aviation circles speculated on the degree of competition being generated as a result of use of United States funds to restore Europe's air transport industry.

Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo Arrives At Home

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 18.—(INS)—Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo, home a free woman, today set out to erase all but one of the marks of her 107-day imprisonment in Germany—her slimmed-down figure.

The 24-year-old brunette who was convicted of murdering her Army sergeant husband, planned to leave her six-year-old son, Jimmy, long enough today to get a permanent wave.

Then she'll begin brushing up on the typing and stenography and look for a job.

Mrs. Ybarbo came home to New Bedford yesterday by air immediately after Gen. Lucius Clay, U. S. military governor of Germany, commuted her sentence in the killing that climaxed a barracks drinking party last September.

The United States has nearly 1000 organizations devoted exclusively to the production of footwear. They are located in 33 states.

Kolarov Is Premier Replacing Dimitrov

Bulgarian Government Announced Kolarov As Premier Replacing Dimitrov

SOFIA, April 18.—(INS)—Bulgarian Foreign Minister Vassil P. Kolarov has taken over as premier for ailing Georgi Dimitrov.

The Bulgarian government announced Kolarov's new duties in the wake of considerable speculation over Dimitrov, veteran, Moscow-trained Communist who is recuperating in the Soviet Union.

(When Dimitrov's "temporary" retirement was announced last week there was speculation in Western European capitals that he might be in disfavor with Moscow. Bulgarian statements discounted these rumors, however.)

Kolarov, a veteran official, is deputy prime minister and president of the Bulgarian council of ministers in addition to his foreign post.

Another F.B.I. Agent Testifies In Red Trial

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 18.—FBI Agent Fred G. Cook testified at the Communist conspiracy trial today that Carl Winter told a Detroit meeting in January, 1946, the time was coming when Lenin's revolutionary teachings would be "put into action."

Winter is one of the eleven U. S. Communist party leaders on trial charged with advocating the forcible overthrow of the United States government. Winter is the party's Michigan chairman.

Cook, resuming the stand after an Easter court recess, corroborated the testimony of Eugene H. Stewart, another Detroit FBI agent who testified last Wednesday regarding "the Lenin Memorial meeting," as it was called.

Assigned To Cover Meeting
They were both assigned to cover the meeting and report to the FBI.

Cook confirmed Stewart's statement that Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, told the meeting the time was coming "soon" when Communists would "smash their way to victory in the United States."

Both Cook and Stewart said Winter criticized anti-Communist Walter Reuther, head of the CIO United Auto Workers, for failure to extend the General Motors strike—then in progress—into an industry-wide strike.

Cross-examination of Cook was taken over by Defense Attorney George W. Crockett, Jr., of Detroit who represents Winter.

Crockett asked Cook if it was the duty of an FBI agent to "spy" on workers' meetings.

Cook replied it was not. He explained workers meetings do not as a rule need any watching.

He said, however, that he and Stewart were assigned to the Lenin Memorial meeting and told to report to the FBI what they saw and heard. This they did, he said, making a joint report.

Degenerate Blamed In Bronx Killing

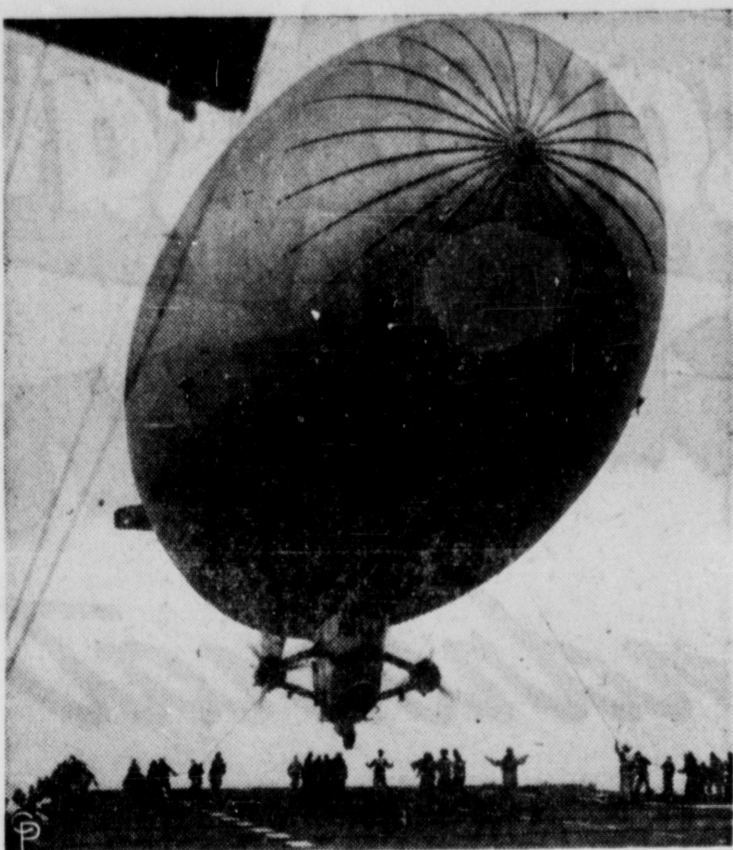

NEW YORK, April 18.—(INS)—Police today are convinced a degenerate strangled eight-year-old Jack Goldsmith, but admitted that 50 detectives have failed to uncover a clue to the killer.

The boy's body was found behind a tank in an empty swimming pool of an abandoned amusement park near his Bronx home.

As schoolmates and neighbors attended his funeral yesterday, police questioned more than 1,000 persons, including 50 suspects.

London's great fire in 1666 destroyed 14,000 buildings.

Douglas Allows Filming Of Book

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—Novelist Lloyd C. Douglas says that he has relented in his recent flat assertion that he would not permit Hollywood to film his last book, "The Big Fisherman."

The 71-year-old author of "Magnificent Obsession" and "The Robe" said he has decided to allow movie makers to use the story at some future date "provided it is handled right." The book is a full-length word picture of Christ.

Douglas, semi-invalided by arthritis, insists his latest book is his last.

"Too many authors," he says, "keep writing when they have nothing to say. I haven't the strength and endurance to do another."

He'd Rather Not Sit In Front Row

CLEVELAND.—(INS)—Fists fly, sticks clash and pucks flash into the midst of spectators, but Cleveland Baron hockey fans still scramble for rinkside seats—at least most of them.

It's almost a sure thing at every game that a spectator will be led from his seat to the first aid room for medical care after being conked with a flying puck.

According to arena officials, however, the fans virtually fight for seats in "suicide row."

There was one exception, however, related boxoffice manager Nate Dolin.

"A guy once came here and insisted on having front row seats. He got 'em. The next week he came back to the window with a bandage over his eye and put his money through the window, saying, 'Gimme a couple of seats in the last row!'"

VANISHING OF APES ALARMING ENGLISH

EDINBURGH.—(INS)—In an attempt to discover why Gibraltar's ape colony is dying out, anatomy professors at Edinburgh university are closely examining the embalmed body of an ape shipped from the "Rock."

Reason for the great concern over monkey death toll on Britain's

Mediterranean fortress is due to a legend which says that when the last ape leaves the rock it will cease to be a British possession.

There were on Gibraltar a year ago fewer than 20 apes. They are on the garrison strength and an 'Office-in-charge Rock Apes' feeds them from an annual ration allowance of $25 each.

MORE METERS

CHICAGO.—(INS)—The International City Managers' Association reports that more than 1,100 cities of over 5,000 population now have parking meters in operation. Nearly 700 cities have installed their meters since the war ended. First meters were instituted in 1935.

Tourist Problems Concern Mexico

MEXICO CITY.—(INS)—Mexicans are beginning to worry seriously over the future of their country's tourist business.

Conclusions of groups meeting to discuss the problem are that everything costs too much. Hotels concentrate on the wealthy and glamorous visitors rather than the ordinary tourists. Taxi rates have gone up, and drivers cheat outrageously anyone who does not speak Spanish or speaks with an accent.

To combat these conditions, hotel men are talking about rate cutting and package bus tours are being arranged.

HURT IN COLLISION

Thomas Micco, Dewey avenue, was thrown from a truck when a Fowler taxicab and a Castle Cleaning truck collided at Court and Walnut streets at 4 p. m. Saturday, according to police.

Micco was taken by Walter Green, North Scott street, to the New Castle hospital, where it was learned he suffered a laceration of the forehead.

The taxicab was driven by John Jones, R. D. 2, and the truck was operated by Tony Perotta, South Ray street.

PARKED CAR STRUCK

Police hope to obtain from a state motor vehicle bureau the name of the owner of an auto which struck the parked car of Louis Costa, Highland avenue, in North Mill street, near Sycamore street, then continued on its way.

Costa and policeman Leone attempted to catch the car but were unable to do so.

However, a witness to the accident provided Costa with the license number of the hit and run auto, which he gave to policeman Leone.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

EVERYTHING is not serene with Elkins Brothers, local heavyweight, who totes a ponderous punch. He hasn't boxed during the past five months and, is pining for action. However, he has been active in the gymnasium, as the sparring mate of Archie Moore, who recently stopped Jimmy Bivins, in Toledo.

In his amateur days, hereabouts, Brothers proved tops, but finally shook the dust of New Castle from his brogans and migrated to Washington, D. C., in quest of fame and riches. He had hopes, and yet has, of emulating Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber, who only recently abandoned the world's heavyweight crown.

However, as stated, Brothers isn't 'getting places', due, he said to several bad breaks. An injury to his nose last November resulted in an operation which consumed time to mend. Then a postponement, several times, of a proposed Philadelphia bout which further delayed his upward climb.

His manager, John Carter, who has a partner, name not known presently to Here & There, apparently has been unable to land Brothers sufficient matches to keep him busy, hence Brothers would like to return to New Castle, and box Billy Pozza, Jackie Lyons, Jackie Thompson; in fact, anyone of his ability.

He told Here & There several days ago in The News office that, he has fought 10 times since departing from this city, scoring four knockouts, one technical knockout, losing one T-kayo, and winning four decisions. None of his fights went more than six chapters, and his quickest knockouts came in the first round.

He collected knockouts over: Ernie Pope, second round, at Washington. Pope had Brothers on the floor twice before Brothers stopped him. Eddie Simmons, one round, at Baltimore. Baby Kid Nichols, one round, at Washington. Willie Champion, second round, at Washington. Brothers gained a technical knockout in three rounds over Al Smith, in Cleveland.

He took decisions over: Eddie Roberts, four rounds, at Washington. Leon Ford, six rounds, at Baltimore. Tiger Roy Taylor, six rounds, at Washington. Taylor was one of Joe Louis sparring partners who won a split decision over Turkey Joe Thompson.

Joe Lindsey, six rounds, at Washington. Lindsey was ahead of Brothers for the first several rounds. However, Elkins floored Lindsey in the fifth, winning the decision.

Jimmie Freeman won a technical knockout over Brothers at Newark, due to a severe cut above an eye. According to the Ring magazine, which is the boxer's Bible, Brothers was ahead on points when the fight was stopped.

Brothers plans to leave New Castle for Washington today and hopes that when he arrives there will be fights awaiting him. He is 23, weighs 193, stands 5 feet 10 inches, hits dynamically, is thoroughly game, looks promising and is willing to fight Pozza, Lyons, Thompson. In fact, anyone of his rank, promoters name.

Elks Ten Pin League will banquet at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Elks Club. . . Dal Double caught an 18-inch Brown trout in the Little Neshannock. Walter Bartoshek caught six Brownies in the same creek. Mayor John F. Haven came home with a nice Brownie. The foregoing is only a trio of the many who went out the first day and caught trout. . . Joe Rick has 20 head of trotters and pacers at the Rick farm, along the Harlansburg road. During the past several weeks, five colts were born at the farm. . . Report says that Sid Gilman, former Army assistant, and now head coach at Cincinnati U., has interviewed five or six local gridiron stars here recently. . . Joe Chip, former middleweight, and a brother to ex-Champion George, is here on a visit from Pottsville. He is the only fighter ever to have knocked out the late Harry Greb, and in a second bout went ten rounds with the Pittsburgh Phenom at Youngstown. Joe also fought Johnny Wilson twice, once at Pittsburgh, and the second time, in Detroit. . . Several days ago the name of a once-good ball player, Bob Grinnen (Sr.), of Wampum was recalled. If Here & There is right, Bob had a try-out with the Boston Braves. He was an outfielder for Wampum in the days of the Blythes, Bob Robertson, and others whose active baseballing is over. . . Recently Claude Patton, who could run 100 yards in 9.4-5 seconds and 50 yards in five, told Here & There of some of his dashes here decades ago. Claude also played the outfield on baseball teams. . . Arthur Alexander, city recreationist, has organized the City Recreation Baseball league. . . Due to lack of bouts Elkins Brothers wouldn't mind returning to New Castle.

David Shaw Wins Volant Contest

There is one specially happy boy in Volant today and it was all caused by the Volant Chiefs, the local baseball team.

The chiefs sponsored a contest of a few weeks duration in an effort to arouse interest in the team among the people in and around the town. The climax came Friday evening with a meeting held at the Volant school building, and it was announced that nine-year-old David Shaw was the winner.

David is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shaw, Church street, Volant, who are also the parents of two daughters, Diane and Darleen. The girls figure in this story in a sort of reflected glory spot. Since David's prize was $100 paid out to him in ten dollar bills, the young capitalist was informed by the next higher in command that he was entitled to the lion's share after each sister had been paid off.

Symphonic Notes

The natural tone of the trumpet, with its golden clarity, its penetrating brilliance, its noble, even defiant quality, is familiar to everyone. In the hands of a really expert player, its tone is exceedingly expressive, soft and rich and moving. The trumpet adds sonority and brilliance to the ensemble.

Trumpet players with the New Castle Symphony are Victor Gaspare, principal, Joseph Donati, Vincent Donati, Emil Orlandi.

Rear Adm. Clark Granted Private Audience With Pope

VATICAN CITY, April 18.—(INS)—Pope Pius XII granted a long private audience today to Rear Adm. J. A. Clark, commander of the U. S. carrier fleet.

Admiral Clark said afterward the Pope appeared deeply interested in the U. S. fleet and asked many technical questions on Navy maneuvers, U. S. Naval power and U. S. seamen.

Admiral Clark's flagship, the Philippine Sea, is presently stationed at Naples. Mrs. Clark, the Admiral's wife, was also received by the Pope.

Gets Even, But Loses His Life

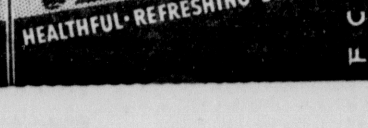

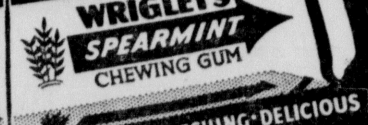

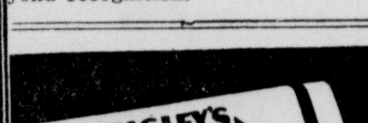

SOMERVILLE, N. J., April 18.—(INS)—A story of retribution was unfolded today by New Jersey state police.

They reported Paul Henry, a 70-year-old pensioner had an argument with his landlord, Erich Klockmann, 41, on Saturday on the Bradley estates near Somerville, and threatened to "get even."

Early yesterday, Henry went to Klockmann's home and set it on fire, then returned and set the torch to his own rented shack.

The Klockmanns managed to flee the flames which firemen brought under control after an hours battle.

The flames spread so rapidly in Henry's shack, however, he didn't have time to get out. Firemen found his body burned almost beyond recognition.

PLAY BALL!

President Truman Hurls First Ball

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 18.—The 1949 Major league baseball season opens with a preview in two cities and will have a general launching tomorrow for the most unpredictable pennant races in years.

Sunny skies were predicted for this afternoon at Washington, where the Senators meet the Philadelphia Athletics, and at Boston, where the Braves will begin defense of the National league flag against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Truman Pitches

A crowd of 30,000 was expected at Washington, including President Harry S. Truman. He will give the national pastime official blessings by throwing out the ball to start festivities in keeping with custom established by President Taft in 1910.

President Truman meanwhile has resisted all efforts to ascertain whether he will make his wild pitch as a southpaw or as a right-hander.

Sain for Boston

In the past he has thrown from either side, causing baseball men to marvel and to ponder the worth of a man who could go a full nine innings alternating his slants from both hands.

Boston's counter-attraction to our one-pitch president was selection of John Sain, tall, sour-looking right-hander, to oppose the Phillies before an expected 25,000. Sain goes to work with a holdover record of 24 victories which helped to nail the pennant to the Boston flagpole last year.

No Standouts

As the teams spring into the six months grind toward the world series pot of gold, the writing experts and the professional price-makers were equally undecided in their selection of the probable winners.

The latest official odds are somewhat unique in that no one-team standard is established in either league.

The world champion Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox, who carried the 1948 race to a deadlock and a one-game playoff, are co-favorites at 8 to 5 in the American League.

Yanks Third Choice

The New York Yankees, minus the hefty hitting and almost flawless fielding of ailing Joe DiMaggio for an indefinite period, are third choices at 3 to 1.

In the National League, the champion Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers are co-favorites at 8 to 5 and the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates are 4 to 1 second choices.

The Cleveland Indians probably have more press box backers than any of the rest. They won the pennant last year in a drive under the fiery leadership of Manager-shortstop Lou Boudreau and appear to be even stronger this year.

Indians Team to Beat

They definitely are the team to beat in the American League, but the Boston Red Sox are given a good chance to be the team to do it.

These two powerhouses and all the rest wing into action tomorrow as follows:

American League

Cleveland at St. Louis, Boston at Philadelphia, Washington at New York, Chicago at Detroit.

National League

Philadelphia at Boston, two games, morning and afternoon; New York at Brooklyn, Pittsburgh at Chicago, St. Louis at Cincinnati.

Real Scramble

According to experts and the odds, the National League race will be a scramble. Any one of a half dozen teams may win it, although the Braves are feared most because of the pitching of the famed one-two-Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn.

Among the guesses may be one to the effect that both races figure to be close and attendance on all fronts accordingly high.

Sport Club Affairs

Lawrence County Coon and Fox Hunters association will meet tonight in McBride post, V. F. W. No. 522, Grant street, according to announcement by the Sportsman's council officials today.

The Lawrence County Sportsman's association will meet Tuesday night in Eccles hall, and the West Pittsburgh Rod & Gun club will convene, Wednesday night at West Pittsburgh.

Dodgers-Red Sox Most Convincing As Season Starts

(By International News Service)

Brooklyn's Dodgers and Boston's Red Sox shaped up as being two of baseball's current hottest teams as the season opened officially today.

By the champions, the two defending champions, the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Braves, appeared to be off their grub.

The Dodgers were most convincing as they made it three straight over the Yankees with a 9 to 4 win. Features were a grand slam homer by Gil Hodges and a steal of home by Jackie Robinson.

Cleveland lost again to the New York Giants, 8 to 3. Willard Marshall, New York's ex-marine outfielder, who had been in the doghouse for weak hitting, knocked in six runs with a homer, a double and a single, all with mates aboard.

Braves Nosed Out

Cleveland won the series, eight games to seven.

The Red Sox nosed out the Braves, 4 to 3, and captured their city series, when young Johnny Attonelli, the $65,000 bonus pitcher of the Braves, issued a pass with the bases full.

Walks, 11 of them, also were costly to the Phillies as they dropped a 5 to 2 decision and the city championship to the Athletics.

Detroit wallowed the Pirates, 4 to 2. A two-run homer by Ralph Kiner was Pittsburgh's only threat.

The hapless Senators lost to a minor league club, the Baltimore Orioles, 6 to 1. And the Reds had a tough time, losing 5 to 1 to Indianapolis, another supposed setup.

Umpires Will Meet Tuesday

There will be a meeting of the Lawrence County Umpires association at the Y Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock it was announced today by Secretary Nick Rotunno. All members are to be present to discuss the coming baseball season and act on several important matters.

Elks Ten-Pin Teams To Fete

Members of the Elks Ten-Pin league will hold their annual banquet at 6:30 p. m., Tuesday, in the Elks club. Michigan won the first half, and Minnesota took the second half, but in the roll-off, Michigan won the league championship.

Finds 'Muskie' In Little Neshannock

Bob McClurg, Highland avenue, while fly-fishing for trout Saturday, found a small 'Muskie' floating dead upon the surface of the Little Neshannock creek near the double-bridge above New Wilmington. How the 'Muskie' got into the Little Neshannock is unknown.

"I've caught 'Muskie's' and identified the dead fish as such," McClurg said.

According to some, it is possible that it may originally swim about the Big Hole at Wilmington Junction, and worked its way up the Little Neshannock to the double-bridge, where it was found floating on the surface.

No one ever has reported catching a 'Muskie' in the Little Neshannock.

Probably someone may provide the answer as to how it got in the Little Neshannock.

Incidentally, McClurg caught the limit of trout.

Rifle Club Shoots In Hearst Tourney

New Castle Rifle Club gave a very good account of itself Saturday in the annual Hearst 4-man team shoot at Pittsburgh.

Wilbur Thomas again tied the record for this event on the Carnegie Tech range by firing a 391. Other scores were Paul Carrigan 381, Jess Moore 373, and John Williams 371.

Tonight the local club will go to East Palestine for a championship shoot-off match with the strong rifle club from Evans City.

Mangrum, Snead Money Winners

CHICAGO, April 18.—(INS)—Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff are running a close one-two-three in professional golf's 1949 money winnings derby.

Latest figures from PGA headquarters in Chicago put Mangrum at $9,708 today, with $9,111 for Snead and $8,485 for Middlecoff. Others who have hauled down more than $5,000 in prize money this year are Jimmy Demaret ($6,694), E. J. Harrison ($6,613), and Johnny Palmer ($6,363).

Eight Teams In Recreation Loop

League Will Start Play June 12th, Director Art Alexander Announces

On Friday evening, April 15, a meeting was held in Council Chambers of City Hall for the purpose of accepting teams for the Recreation Board sponsored Baseball League. At the meeting, eight teams were accepted and contracts were turned in for players of each of the eight teams.

Registration is now closed and no more teams will be admitted to the League. The rules and regulations under which the League will operate will be published at a later date. It is expected that the League will get under way the week of June 12 with all games being played at ten o'clock a. m. Each team will probably play two mornings each week. The league will be in operation from June until the middle of August.

Fields Designated

The following fields will be used for League play, George Washington, Deshon Annex, Marshall Field, Lawrence Indies Field.

These teams will compose the League: Sluggers, Ecclesian Club, Senators, East Side Aces, Croton Indians, Seals, St. Margaret's, Hornets.

Chuck Higgins To Box Klingensmith

Chuck Higgins, Campbell, O., who stopped Marty Marlin, Cleveland, here, Wednesday night, and winner of 18 fights, without a defeat, will box Marion Klingensmith, Brownsville, Thursday night, in the semi-final to the Irish Jimmy Sanders, Columbus Lowman main bout at Aragon Gardens, Pittsburgh.

Minner Hurls Hitless Ball

Paul Minner, lanky local left-hander, pitched several scoreless innings in a relief roll for the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Yankees in New York, Saturday. The Dodgers won.

Nats Impressive In Long Workout

Manager Billy Mongiello got his first look at the entire Nats squad Sunday at P. J. Flaherty Memorial Field.

What Mongiello saw, and also quite a number of interested fans, was an impressive looking group of ball players. While it is a little early to tell definitely, it looks like Mike Cannavino has fulfilled his promise to New Castle fans to put a winning team on the field.

Three hours yesterday the team went through a strenuous workout, shagging flies, batting, in-field practice and the pitchers tossed a few.

Mongiello had Julian De La Torres at third, Herb Tufts at short, Luis Garcia at second, and shortnated Robert Mauer and Gilberto Varona at first base. The boys were zipping the ball around with plenty of "moxie".

Even at this early date the outfield is rather well set, with four young men looking very good. Ralph L. Gearhart of New Lebanon, O., Marvin Feltman from the eastern area, Eligio Barberia from Havana, Cuba, and Louis Cholewa of Sayersville, N. J., look like pasture fixtures. Feltman is left-handed and has a strong throwing arm.

Three Fine Catchers

The catching department at the moment is shaping up well with Armend Traspuesto of Havana, Rigoberto Gonzales of Havana and DeGiacomo from out east, taking care of the receiving end of the team and doing a good job. All three boys have strong throwing arms.

The players are now loosened up. Practice sessions will get underway in earnest today and all week, with the first game with Wellsville, N. Y., at Wellsville due Friday.

The pitchers who prefer warm sunshiny days have had little chance to really cut loose with their fast ones. Pitchers have to take it slow in conditioning in order to preserve their arms.

Mongiello has Chuck Henry, Herb Churchill, Mike Giardullo, Paul Morasky and Mike Galavich on hand at the moment. Two other hurlers from Hagerstown are due in today or Tuesday. Frank Wagner is also slated to hit town today.

Youth and speed are being accentuated on the New Castle club this year, and "we'll have a running club, too," Mongiello said.

"I am just as anxious to put out a winning team this year as the fans here are to have a winner," Mongiello stated after the workout yesterday. The sparkle in the eyes of the popular young manager when he talks of his Nats seems to bear ill fruit for the other seven clubs in the Mid-Atlantic circuit.

Mike Cannavino, president of the New Castle club, drove down from his home in Erie yesterday, and was an interested spectator at the long workout. Cannavino was well pleased with what he saw.

Toronto Wins Hockey Title

TORONTO, Ont., April 18.—(INS)—The Toronto Maple Leafs were scattered to their homes today with $36,000 in prize money from the Stanley Cup playoffs for world hockey supremacy.

The Leafs, who finished a poor fourth during the regular National Hockey League season, became the first team in the league's history to win the cup three seasons straight when they downed Detroit 3 to 1 Saturday night.

This marked Toronto's fourth straight win over the Red Wings, duplicating the Leafs feat of last year against the same team.

Fly-Tying Kits Ready For Youths

Youths who attend the Lawrence County Sportsman's association Conservation club, will meet at 7:30 p. m. tonight in Ben Franklin Junior High School gymnasium, where they will receive further instructions in fishing and hunting. Secretary Eddie Fritz, Jr., also announced that youths who ordered fly-tying kits will receive them tonight.

A Federal court jury in Springfield, Mo., awarded $51,428.56 in back pay to Mickey Owen, former catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, in his suit against Jorge Pasquel, former president of the Mexican baseball league.

Boosters Will Meet Tuesday

Banquet Plans For Thursday, April 28th, Will Be Discussed, Planning Big Event

The New Castle Booster group staging the big baseball banquet at the Cathedral Thursday, April 28th will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Castleton Hotel. A check will be made of ticket sales to date. General Chairman William G. Sands, announced today that the Boosters will match the $25.00 season ticket to the Nats games being given by Mike Cannavino, making two season tickets that lucky persons will carry home from the banquet. Also five pairs of single game tickets are being given away, besides other prizes.

The banquet tickets are $2.00. The banquet is being staged to acquaint the fans of New Castle with the new Nats. A grand evening of entertainment has been arranged.

Ed Bang, sports editor of the Cleveland News, and Ossie Bluege are the two principal speakers. Come and bring the ladies.

RYANTOWN WILL WORKOUT

Andrew Cline, business manager of the Ryantown baseball team announced today that the team will have a workout tonight, Wednesday, Friday and next Sunday at the Booker T. Washington field off Mahoning avenue under the viaduct. The sessions will start at 5:30 o'clock.

COON HUNTERS TO MEET

Lawrence County Coon and Fox Hunters will meet tonight at eight o'clock in the V.F.W. Home on Grant street.

Secretary John Susko announced that a discussion of the recent field trials would be an important part of the agenda.

ECCLSIANS TO PRACTICE

Ecclesian club baseball team will work out today, Wednesday and Friday of this week at Union High field. Practices will start at 5:30.

Lands Prize Brook Trout

Fisherman's luck turned out to be more than an empty organ of digestion for Ralph Book of 110 S. Jefferson street Sunday afternoon.

His prize for the day was a 22-inch brown speckled trout that weighed 2 3/4 pounds.

Book caught the beautiful fresh water specimen in the Slippery Rock creek near Keisters on the other side of Slippery Rock.

It was the first trout that the fisherman had ever caught and he accomplished this feat by casting and using a night crawler.

Book's fishing pole was permanently bent after the 10-minute struggle to land the frying pan-bound beauty.

Pitt And Miami Arrange Series

PITTSBURGH, April 18.—(INS)—Tom Hamilton, Pitt athletic director, announced Saturday a home and home grid series was signed with Miami University of Florida.

The series opens with Miami playing Pitt in Pittsburgh on October 28, 1950. The Panthers play at Miami December 7, 1951.

Miami is coached by Andy Gustafson, former Pitt fullback and coach who also has served as backfield coach at Dartmouth and Army.
